

SPAGN Conference Participant Profile

Name: Nicole Schroeder

Organisation: Immunome

Role / Stakeholder Type: Healthcare Professional/Speaker

Country: USA

What is your connection to sarcoma or your sarcoma story?

I work at Immunome, where we are advancing therapies in oncology, including varegacestat for desmoid tumors. My role involves working closely with the advocacy community, with a focus on patient engagement, support, and access as our clinical development moves forward.

What's most important to know about your organization?

Immunome is a clinical stage oncology company developing targeted oncology therapies. We care deeply about working in partnership with the patient and advocacy community and making sure patient perspectives are meaningfully reflected in how we develop our programs.

What are you most interested in collaborating on?

Research, Awareness, Access, Policy, Partnerships, Innovation, Patient Support

Your role in the organisation and main areas of involvement:

Patient Services & Advocacy

How can others best connect with you after the conference?

Email: nschroeder@immunome.com

One fun fact about you or something you are proud of:

I've built my career at the intersection of science and patient advocacy, helping ensure patient perspectives are reflected in development and access conversations.

